On account of the rain it is more [illegible] ers were to work and consequently the strike which was [illegible] not occur. [illegible] ever will lay their demands [illegible] $3.50 per day [illegible] read at a meeting this evening.

Pacific Coast Products in Eastern Markets.

BOSTON, April 15.—[Special.] The Advertiser [illegible] mentions, on the benefits to be derived [illegible] from increased facilities of shipment from the Pacific coast of fruit and vegetables, thinks that only the perishable nature of the goods prevents a successful competition with Florida and others with many points but the case is different with preserved fruits, canned vegetables and dairy products. The time is almost within sight when the Pacific coast will compete with the entire country in all these matters and greatly to the advantage of consumers everywhere.

American Land Leagues.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Major John Byrne of the Cincinnati land league has written Gen. O'Brien of the New York land league denouncing the sentiments expressed and the action of the league at a recent meeting here. The Ross faction sent the following reply, which was telegraphed:

NEW YORK, April 16.

Major John Byrne, President of the United Land League, Cincinnati: New York has a wise and responsible Irish element that is calm, conservative and determined and sustains Parnell. Don't heed brawlers and soreheads. Newspaper publicity gives them their only importance. The western convention will find New York solid with them.

WM. D. WALLACE.

More Police Required.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Inspector Jewitt informed a reporter that the opening of the East river bridge would largely increase the demand for more police in Brooklyn. An addition of at least 80 or 100 would be needed. The entire force of Brooklyn was 658 men to a population of 620,000 and 54 miles of paved streets, while New York has 250 patrolmen alone. Brooklyn has half as much population as New York and more territory to cover with about one-fifth of that force. That the visits of the rough element from New York to Brooklyn would become more frequent when the bridge opened appeared quite certain to the inspector.

Anniversary of Lincoln's Death.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 16.—Memorial services on the sixth anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln were held at the catacomb of the national Lincoln monument yesterday under the auspices of the Lincoln Guard of Honor. The programme embraced religious exercises, music, reading of President Lincoln's Sunday order to the army and navy and an oration. At the conclusion of the stated exercises the catacomb was opened and a large concourse passed in and placed flowers and evergreens on the sarcophagus.

The Princess and the Marquis.

BOSTON, April 16.—Mayor and Mrs. Palmer dined with the marquis and princess this afternoon. About 7:30 the vice regal party left the hotel for the Boston and Lowell depot, where the two special cars attached to the regular 7 P. M. northern train were waiting. About 250 people were at the depot to see the distinguished party off and their arrival at the depot and the departure of the train were loudly cheered. The marquis and princess bowed an acknowledgment from the rear platform.

Governor Butler paid his respects to the marquis and princess this afternoon and was very graciously received by both. He was urged to remain to lunch but was forced to decline, owing to pressing business at the state house.

The Princess' Health.

BOSTON, April 16.—The heavier tempers are experienced by the Tenedos on its way from Bermudas so greatly affected the Princess' health in her present delicate state of health that she was compelled to seek repose that she might be able for further travel. It is understood that the marquis and princess will take an opportunity of seeing the city to-day.

A Dark Outlook for Iron Laborers.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The President of the North Chicago Rolling Mills states that the mills will be again in operation inside of six months or not at all. They would not be started while the present prices continued. Four thousand men have been thrown out by the stoppage of these mills. He thinks that one-third of the rails needed for this year are already in the market and expresses the opinion that the outlook for laborers now out of employment is a very dark one.

It is believed that an effort will be made to advance Transcontinental as soon as Villard arrives at Portland, which will be to-day or to-morrow.

Three Men Burned to Death in an Iowa Hotel.

ALBIA, Iowa, April 16.—The Atlantic house burned this morning. Mr. Beanie, the proprietor, was badly burned while making his escape. Three boarders, William McGill, Charles Quinlan and Carl Spiegle, were missing and after the firemen secured control of the flames they turned on the hose where it was supposed the bodies were, and in a short time the charred remains of the three missing men were found. Their limbs and heads were partially burned off.

The Dome-Decked Meteor.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Officers of the American Quick Transit Steamship Company, which built the dome-deck Meteor, are not disturbed by reports concerning the failure of the enterprise. They say the failure of the engines entails only a loss of time to the company, the cost of experimental double compound engines falling on the contractor, who will now replace them with engines guaranteed to give a speed of 22 miles an hour, and have a vessel ready for sea in 60 days.

Has Resigned.

ST. PAUL, April 16.—It is learned from military authority that the resignation of Guido Ilges, Lieutenant in the eighth infantry, is in the hands of General Terry. The railroad commissioners met again to-day to hear argument in the case of R. Chasele & Harrison vs. the Central Pacific railroad for discrimination in freight rates. Counsel on both sides indulged in sharp tilting, and after long arguments on both sides the case was submitted and taken under advisement. Dennis Kearney, who was present, addressed the board. When asked if he had a right to appear in the case as a representative of either side, he said that Mr. Harrison one of the plaintiffs represented the merchants and he thought the workingmen ought to be represented. The chairman objected, saying the case was closed.

Mr. Kearney—Then there is no way for me to get in?

Chairman—None that I know of.

Kearney—Could I not come in as Amicus Curiae?

Commissioner Foote—Oh yes, you might come in as a curio.

Before the roar that followed had subsided the board had adjourned.

The first named is said to be a total loss and the last named is bilged with her fore and mainmasts gone.

A later telegram says the British bark Tiger is also ashore. Telegrams received here regarding these disasters are meagre but sufficient to indicate serious damage to shipping on northern coasts.

A Question of Jurisdiction.

Some time ago the board of supervisors appointed a committee to examine into the management of the merchants exchange. And declaring that she would not leave for the west before seeing her children. Mr. Conkling's counsel, Colonel King, earnestly urged her to accompany her brother and she was finally persuaded to enter a close carriage with Conkling and a gentleman who has been a warm friend throughout the trouble and the carriage was driven to the Grand Central depot. After getting aboard the train Mrs. Uhler became almost hysterical and cried out that she would not go. At times force became necessary to restrain her from leaving the car. Despite her determination to do so Mrs. Uhler was unable to embrace her little children before going away with her brother, but she certainly

MADE A DESPERATE EFFORT.

To accomplish her desire, for accompanied by her maid on the 4th inst. she went to Lebanon, where her husband and children are residing with Mr. Uhler's parents. Upon ringing the bell of the Uhler mansion the door was opened by a servant girl who had been in the employ of Mr. and Mrs. Uhler before their separation. The girl at once recognized Mrs. Uhler and acting probably upon instructions given to her by her employer, she shut the door in Mrs. Uhler's face. The unfortunate woman became almost frantic and striding up and down the piazza she gave vent to her anguish in heartrending shrieks, clamoring to be admitted and threatening to break the door and windows if she was not admitted to see her children.

NO ATTENTION WAS PAID TO HER CRIES

by those within the house and finally her maid succeeded in calming her, but just before leaving the place Mrs. Uhler saw her little ones driving past with their father. She held out her arms imploringly to them and cried out for them to stop, but either the father and children did not see or hear, or pretended they did not, and they were soon out of sight of the heart broken mother, probably forever. It was with no little effort that the maid was enabled to get her mistress to leave the spot and come to the city. Those who have been intimately associated with Mrs. Uhler for the past week are under the impression that the poor woman's mind has been unsettled by the shock she received the night of the tragedy and her sufferings and remorse which have followed.

SPECULATING ON MARGINS.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A decision has been rendered in the brokerage case of J. M. Rountree, plaintiff in error, vs. Ernest F. Smith & M. Lightner, in error to the circuit court of the United States for the western district of Wisconsin. This was a suit growing out of speculation in produce in this city of Chicago upon margins and was brought by the firm of Smith & Lightner, brokers, against their customer, Rountree, to recover a balance alleged to be due them on account of purchases and sales of pork, lard, wheat, &c., by his order. Rountree set up a defence that he [illegible] had not actually bought or sold for him the commodities specified, but had merely speculated in options for his own account, that these options were

ONLY BETTING CONTRACTS

Or bets on the future prices of the various articles of produce to which they related, that they were not intended to be actually performed by delivery, but the differences were to be adjusted and liquidated in money and settled according to the difference between the contract price and the market price at the date fixed for the delivery, and that finally the contracts were illegal.

The plaintiff offered no proof that the particular contract in the controversy were really bets on future prices, but he did offer to show that a very large portion of all contracts made in the board of the Chicago board of trade for the sale of produce were

SETTLED BY PAYMENT OF DIFFERENCES.

That nothing else was expected, and that the proportion of such betting contracts in which the delivery of merchandise was neither expected nor desired was so great in comparison with bona fide contracts as to justify the inference that contracts made for fun by the brokers were of the gambling kind.

The court holds that the evidence of what other people intended by other contracts of similar character, however numerous

IS NOT SUFFICIENT OF ITSELF

To prove that the parties to these contracts intended to violate the law or to justify the jury in making such presumption. It is also to be observed that the court says that the plaintiffs in this case are not suing on the contracts but for services performed and the money advanced for the defendant at his request, and though it is possible they might under some circumstances be so connected with the immorality of the contract as to be affected by it, they are certainly not in the same position as the party suing for the enforcement of the original agreement. The judgment of the circuit court in favor of the brokers is affirmed, with interest. Opinion by Justice Millers.

PHOENIX PARK MURDER TRIAL RESUMED

THE PHOENIX PARK MURDERERS

DUBLIN, April 16.—In the Curley trial the case for the prosecution was opened by Murphy. He said that neither the defendants were in the park [illegible] themselves should inform [illegible] He then detailed the circumstances of the murder. Murphy stated that Farrell informer would be called to prove the prisoner's share in the plot to murder the officials of Ireland and particularly to tell how the prisoner swore him in as an invincible and instructed him when the murder of Forster was projected to stop the secretary's carriage by [illegible] Kavanagh and Carey; he said where he placed on the stand to detail the movements of Curley on the day of the Phoenix Park murders. Peter Carey, brother of James Carey, the informer, would swear that after the murders he was detailed to watch Kavanagh the car driver, who it was feared would inform and who Curley desired to have murdered.

THE FIRST WITNESS.

A servant girl was the first witness called. She fully identified Curley as one of the men she saw in the park the 6th of May.

James Carey swore that just before Burke was stabbed he (Carey) heard him tell Cavendish about the attempts made to take the life of Forster. Carey admitted that he had been engaged in 20 attempts to take the life of Forster and would not have called Forster's removal murder. The conspirators had arranged for the assassination on the 4th of May last of Lieutenant Colonel Hillier, then inspector general of constabulary, and Burke he did not think Burke deserved to be murdered but would not have cared at anything that happened to Forster.

Upon the conclusion of the testimony of Farrell court adjourned until to-morrow.

NOTES OF THE TRIAL.

Curley maintained an indifferent air throughout.

The effect of the letter received by the foreman of the jury which tried Joe Brady threatening that he would be killed unless a verdict of not guilty was [illegible] was shown to-day by the fact that of a special jury panel called in the case of Curley 80 persons failed to appear, notwithstanding a fine of £500 was imposed upon each absentee.

ORGANIZATION OF THE INVINCIBLES.

DUBLIN, April 16.—The inquiry of Clifford Lloyd in the [illegible] case in Crushkeen district has led to remarkable disclosures. The first clue to the existence of a conspiracy was obtained by the confession of a man named Inbrider, wounded in an attack on an objectionable party of moonlighters. Inbrider has given full particulars in court of the murder of a man named Kennedy by assassins brought from a distance. Inbrider states that he belonged to a secret society in which he was obliged by threats to continue. In January 1882 the society was reorganized with the special object of killing landlords, agents and spies. A local leader named Macinery introduced to the members a stranger from Dublin, who said he had traveled through other countries and formed societies. He stated the land league would supply the society with arms and promised that the league would pay Macinery's expenses if men were sent out of their own districts. He also said that members might have to go to various parts of Ireland and even to England to shoot landlords and agents. The name of this new society was the invincibles or vigilantes. The group of societies, including the Crushkeen district, was the one implicated in many of the most notorious murders ever committed in Ireland.

A circular has been addressed from Belfast to all stations, [illegible] urging justification by the [illegible] commission in publishing its report of an inquiry into the grievances of the men and not adjusting the same. The castle authorities have issued a circular appealing to the men not to act rashly and promising that the conclusions of the commission shall be published immediately.

Liberal journals are dissatisfied with the message though declaring the social [illegible] is directed against Bismarck and not the emperor. The Vossische Zeitung says the message is a clever expedient to effect the dissolution of the reichstag, which now will be made on the ground of non-compliance in the message. The National Zeitung doubts the necessity of the message.

LATEST DISPATCHES.

Daggett Makes a Report.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—R. M. Daggett, United States minister resident at Honolulu, has made a full report to the department with regard to the alleged creditorship from thirty of the United States of Chinese sugars with a view to securing the advantages of the reciprocity treaty between the Sandwich Islands and this country. He says that during the year [illegible] only four vessels arrived at Honolulu from China ports and none of them brought or discharged Chinese sugars, but even granting that sugars could be imported and reshipped in this way, the necessary expenses incidental to this work, with lighterage to shore, trading and transporting sugars inland from one to five miles, mixing and working it with Hawaiian sugars, rebranding, and retransporting to shore and lighterage to the vessel, would be in excess of the evaded duties under all circumstances. Therefore Mr. Daggett is firmly of the belief that Chinese sugars have not been in the past nor are they now brought to Hawaiian Islands and reshipped to the United States as products of Hawaiian plantations.

The Rebellion in Hayti.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Capt. McGelvery of the brig James Miller from Miragoane, Hayti, gives details of a battle for the possession of Miragoane church on the 31st, about 800 rebels engaged the government troops, who were repulsed with a loss of [illegible] killed. They [illegible] who hold pieces with terrible effect. The brig [illegible] harbored 300 women and children during the engagement, and a native of Miragoane named [illegible] remained on board for fear of being shot by the rebels and was brought to Chester. Captain McGelvery also makes the statement that the rebel general and the nucleus of his army were landed by the steamer Tropic, belonging to Warner & Merritt of this city. The Tropic took from Philadelphia 1000 rifles, 5000 sabres, 600 revolvers, 600,000 cartridges, two field pieces and a large number of tents for the rebels, which were landed at Miragoane.

The story of Captain McGelvery is corroborated by the mate of his vessel, told by Bismarck. The latter had been appointed captain of the port by the insurrectionists and incurred their displeasure. Marks of bullets were seen in the rigging. James Miller, one of the owners of the Tropic, says he regards the story improbable, but knew nothing of the matter. The Tropic was due here Saturday. He denies that any arms were taken from here.

Tariff for Revenue Only.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Congressman Springer of Illinois, who has been in this city since Thursday, was interviewed to-day in regard to the published statement that the general sentiment of the democratic leaders who were in attendance at the Iroquois banquet favored Tilden for the standard bearer in 1884. Springer said the meeting was not in the interest of any presidential candidate, and as far as he knew no preference for individual candidates was expressed. Its only object was to counsel as democratic principles and to voice the sentiment of the party on the great questions of the day. There was an overwhelming sentiment, however, in favor of tariff for revenue only, and it was his conviction that representatives of the northwest would demand the insertion of this plank in the platform of the next democratic national convention.

Schiller will Probably be Acquitted.

MILWAUKEE, April 16.—The only witnesses called in the Schiller case to-day were Ambinial, proprietor of the Newhall, who testified that he could not remember having ordered the clearing of liquor packages from the hall near Schiller's barroom, and John Ebner, the reporter, who said he met Singhim, the man who [illegible] Schiller at his home and swore to finding him in bed. Ebler met Singham near Schiller's house. No arguments of the prosecution and defense were made except closing words by Ebbits for the defense and Sonders for the prosecution. At present the case looks very favorable for Schiller. The friends of the accused fear the effect of Sonders' speech. It is thought Schiller will be acquitted.

The Pauper Dead of Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Various journals here are discussing the methods observed in burying the pauper dead, and the warden of the county hospital is made to say that one Chaffee, county undertaker, sells 75 per cent. of the bodies to the medical colleges of this and other cities and that his revenue from this source has exceeded $5,000 annually. It is also charged by those who have visited the potter's field that the bodies of dead babies have been interred by simply throwing a few shovelfuls of earth on them as that the evidences of the revolting usage were discovered by the dogs and bones found in various portions of the field with no earth covering them.

Chalmers vs. Myers.

JACKSON, Mich., April 16.—In the supreme court in the case of Chalmers vs. Myers, the judge reverses the decision of Judge Wharton of the circuit court and enters judgment dismissing the petition of Chalmers for mandamus. The opinion says that the Secretary of state having declared Myers elected and the governor having issued him a certificate, the election case is beyond the jurisdiction of courts, and in such shape that congress alone can interfere.

Parnell Not Coming.

It is too late to make postponement possible.

Conflict Between Mayor and Council.

CHICAGO, April 16.—In obedience to an order of the Mayor the telegraph companies of this city have been gathering their wires into cables, carried on short poles, and so arranged that the cables can be thrown to the ground in case of fire. To-night the council passed an order directing the mayor that these cables be removed at once.

A Negro's Skin.

BOSTON, April 16.—John F. McGovern, a tanner at Woburn, sold the skin of a negro, untanned, was brought to his tannery by W. F. Morrison, who wanted it tanned. Morrison said he bought it from Harvard and that it came originally from Tewksbury. Morrison claimed to be a student. Pieces of the skin were shown and Brown asked for a bit of it which McGovern cut off and gave him.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 17, 1883.

SHADOWS OF COMING EVENTS.

A few days ago Carter H. Harrison was elected for the third time mayor of Chicago. He was the democratic candidate, was supported by the cheap whisky association, representing 5000 saloons, and received 10,000 majority. His great success has made him a big man, and he is now understood to be posing for the democratic nomination for the presidency. This may account for his plain speech at the banquet of the Iroquois club in Chicago last Friday night. While others were dealing in platitudes and equivocations he talked in a most direct and downright way. When he declared that the democratic party would meet "dire disaster" if it did not inscribe "protection" on its banners, the assertion was received with surprise and dissatisfaction; but there seems to have been no one possessed of sufficient courage to controvert him.

This episode is an indication of the very unpleasant predicament with respect to the tariff in which the democratic party finds itself. It may, indeed, be said that Mayor Harrison is not a man of any great importance in the party, and his ambition to be its candidate for the presidency may be scouted. But this will not dispose of the burning question.

In December next a congress will meet, in which the democrats will have a great majority. In the contest for the speakership, already in progress, this question is uppermost. It will result in drawing the lines more distinctly than ever between the "revenue tariff" and "protection" wings of the party, and in precipitating a split that will very probably bring disaster in 1884. The free traders are actively canvassing for Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, for speaker, or they would be willing to accept Mr. Cox of New York; while the protectionists are using their best endeavors for Mr. Randall, reinforced by considerable numbers from the south, a section which hitherto has been strenuous for free trade. But there is a great body of democrats in congress who refuse to yield the point. They have declared war on the tariff law enacted at the last session, are on the record as pledged to bring about "real revenue reform," and are supported by the greater part of the democratic press. To all appearances the views of the two wings are utterly irreconcilable. Were it an abstract question it might be ignored entirely, or passed over with some phrases of doubtful meaning; but since it affects in a direct way the largest and most vested interests, neither side will be content with nothing less than positive declarations in favor of its own views.

In the manufacturing states certain democratic journals sound the warning given by the mayor of Chicago at the Iroquois banquet. Thus the Pittsburg Post tells the democrats "who propose to meddle with the tariff at the next session," that by so doing "they will be held responsible for disturbing the business of the country and very possibly precipitating a panic at the outset of the presidential campaign." It says further: "If such a dance is proposed by Messrs. Carlisle, Morrison, Hurd and Beck, just for the fun of the thing, and to give them opportunity to fire off free trade speeches and commit the democratic majority of the house to gone theories, the holding of a democratic national convention next year to nominate candidates for president and vice president may as well be omitted. It will be a very useless ceremony."

The question will not trouble the republican party so much, because that party, through force of circumstances twenty years ago, was committed to the policy of protection; and though there are many republicans who are not protectionists, yet it cannot be denied that the protective system as it now stands is the work of that party, or that the party, through its authorized utterances, is committed to defend and support of the system. If it be asked why these republicans have not gone over to the democratic party to secure tariff reform in accord with their views, the answer is that the democratic party for many years has been trying to dodge the issue. It has pretended to favor a tariff on the basis of revenue, but has always been controlled by the protectionists, so that when the legislative power has been in its hands it has done nothing towards keeping its pledge. Its study has been to "straddle" the question. It may try to do so again, but it will not succeed, because the republicans will push it on one side, and the free traders in its own ranks will push it on the other. What happened during the last months of the presidential contest of 1880, when nothing was heard in the great states whose vote was decisive but discussion of the tariff question, is an indication of the whole course of the contest of 1884.

Complaint has been made that in turning off the water, or the greater part of it, which formerly went through the Willamette slough, an arm separating Sauvie's island from the main land, the navigation of this important side channel has been impaired, and the people who live along its banks consequently damaged. The facts are as follows: Three or four years ago when the work at the mouth of the Willamette was begun, it was desired to turn the whole flow of the river out into the Columbia through the main channel, and it was proposed, to entirely seal up the head of the Willamette slough. However, in consideration of the interests of the settlers along the banks of the slough, who by this work, would have been compelled to go around the lower end of Sauvie's island and up by way of the Columbia river to reach the Portland market, the United States engineer modified the original plan by leaving a gap in the dam wide enough for the passage of river boats. This modified plan was carried into execution, the dam itself being raised only to the height of low-water mark. Recently it was found necessary to add two feet to the height of this dam because as first built it allowed the escape of too much water through the slough. In raising it the gap was not narrowed, but the current through it was accelerated so that small and feeble craft can not stem it except at slack tide, for which they are frequently compelled to wait. To reduce this current, an effort was made some time ago to build a submerged dam just below the main one, but owing to the stage of the river and its consequent strong flow, this work failed and has been postponed. The idea has not, however, been abandoned, and the dam will be put in, after which it is hoped that there will be no trouble. It is proper to say in defense of the work, that much of the increase of the depth in the ship channel at the mouth of the Willamette is due to the diversion of the waters from their original course through the slough.

It is hardly to be expected that the O. R. & N. Co., which furnished a steamer last year to wash the sand from the St. Helens bar, can spare one of their boats this year, when all are so busily engaged; and the work there after the spring flood will have to be done with the dredger. It has been suggested that the city dredger, which does good service in sand, be sent to St. Helens, but under the provisions of the city charter this cannot be directly done. However, the council could lease the dredger to the board of trade for a merely nominal sum, and the work could be done under the direction of the latter organization. There certainly would be no objection to the arrangement on the part of any taxpayer, as improvement of the St. Helens bar is as directly in the interest of Portland as improvement at Swan island. And it must not be forgotten that unless the river channels are kept open we shall suffer seriously. This matter has never been so important as it is now. The eyes of the commercial world are upon us, and what we do or fail to do this year may be greatly in our favor or greatly to our disadvantage.

OLD AND NEW FAITHS.

In his sermon on Sunday evening Dr. Marvin adverted to "creed bound and fossilized churches" as "thorns in the side of the ministers," and spoke of an editorial in this paper of the day before, in which the departure of Swing, Thomas, Newton and other preachers from the creed of their churches was referred to as an indication of "wa[r]wardness" which the churches would not approve. Dr. Marvin said: "THE OREGONIAN is generally right on all moral questions, and for that very reason the editorial was all the more noticeable. It certainly was not a fair editorial." We fear Dr. Marvin ran over it too hastily. The idea set forth in it was simply this, namely, that if Mr. Newton and the rest could not adhere to the doctrines of the churches under whose authority they appear in the pulpit, then the proper thing would be to withdraw and preach on their own account. This proposition does certainly rest on a sound moral basis. If, for example, a preacher does not believe that Jesus the Christ was foretold by the prophets and that he appeared as God in human form for the salvation of our race, then he ought not to preach in the name of a church which builds on this doctrine as a chief corner stone.

As to the value of Mr. Newton's utterances this journal expressed no opinion. Perhaps, however, it ought to say that Mr. Newton appears to it to be far more in the fight than his critics. When he says, "of any literal fulfillment of the prophecies I know none," he speaks what multitudes of thoughtful and religious minds have long felt; and when he examines the scriptural record by the ordinary tests of literary and historical criticism, and so judges it, he is but doing what great numbers who assuredly are not irreligious are doing more and more. It is now settled that books of the Bible, each of which, when our church creeds were formed passed as the work of a single inspired writer, are the product of numerous hands. That the books of Genesis and Exodus as we have them are patchwork formed of documents that preceded them every scholar knows; that the book of Isaiah is the work of at least two authors, between whom there lay a considerable period of time, is equally unquestionable. The literature of the Hebrews, like that of every other nation, sprang from the life of the people. Their life was intensely religious, and their literature took that cast. Is this idea of the origin of the scriptures fatal to their reception as the inspired and infallible word? Then, to save their ground, the churches must accept new definitions. That they have not yet done so is the reason why such men as Swing, Newton and Thomas are called to account. Perhaps it is also the reason why Dr. Marvin protests against close adherence to formulated creeds as a Procrustes' bed, to which all preachers must be stretched or pruned.

Dr. Marvin asks: "Must a minister step down from his pulpit and go out from his associations in order to exercise what is generally regarded as the essential characteristic of Protestantism—the right of private judgment?" By no means. But if he continues to preach in the pulpits of his church, the right of private judgment should not set aside the leading articles of faith to which he has subscribed. If he has grown beyond his "old circle of faith," it is best to say so plainly, deal frankly with his people, and not try to make the old faith appear as the new, or the new as the old. It is as well to say plainly that all Protestant denominations a revolution is in progress which seems destined to produce radical changes in articles of faith. The old question, "What think ye of Christ?" has not yet received the final answer.

THE CANADIAN POSTAL BANKS.

In the latest issue of consular reports from the state department, details are given of the Canadian post-office system of savings banks, which has proved of great benefit in promoting economy and thrift among people of small means. This system was introduced in 1868 as an experiment and has become very popular, being scarcely less prized by the middle classes than the postal service itself. Not all the post-offices are authorized to receive deposits, the system being about as general as our money order system, and including only 308 offices in the whole Dominion. The workings of the system are simple and easily understood and involve no expense whatever from the depositor who receives interest on his savings at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum. Money cannot be seized or detained while in the hands of the postmaster-general or while in transit to or from that officer by legal process. The whole of a deposit or a part of it may be withdrawn at any time. Postmasters and others connected with the post office where deposits are made, are not allowed to disclose the names of depositors, the amounts, or any other circumstance attending with the business. All moneys deposited are immediately sent to the postmaster-general and by him paid over to the receiver-general of Canada, who credits them to the postoffice savings bank account, and all sums withdrawn by depositors are repaid from this fund through the postmaster-general. The accumulated interest is added to the principal and becomes part thereof on the 30th of June each year. A report is required to be made as soon as possible after the expiration of each month to the auditor of public accounts of the moneys received and paid during the preceding month, as well as of the total amount on deposit by the postmaster-general. This statement is published in the Canada Gazette, the official organ of the government, for the information of depositors and others.

The postmaster-general, subject to the conditions of the act, is empowered to frame regulations governing deposits and all other matters appertaining thereto. He is, however, required to submit such regulations to parliament. A deposit of any one person cannot exceed $300 in any fiscal year, excepting in special cases and by express authority of the postmaster-general. Interest is not allowed on sums over $1000 during any period. A depositor, upon making his first deposit, is required to give his name in full, and his vocation and residence, to the postmaster or other officer of the postoffice department, and to make and sign the declaration provided by law and regulations. Should the declaration or any part thereof not be true, the depositor loses all right and title to the deposit. Depositors are not required to continue making their deposits at the original office of deposit but may do so at any office of deposit in the dominion; this applies to withdrawing deposits also. In changing from one office of deposit to another, no notice to the authorities or change of pass-book is required. Depositors are required on the anniversary of their first deposit, in each year, to forward their books to the postmaster-general in order that the entries therein may be compared with the entries in the books of his department, as well as for the purpose of adding the accumulated interest to the principal. Books for the use of depositors are furnished free by the postoffice department. No postage is charged on these books when in transit through the mails to the postmaster general. Married women, or women who may afterwards marry, have sole control of their deposits.

The system was successful from the beginning. The number of depositors has steadily increased and includes people of all classes, many of whom have abandoned ordinary banks for the postal banks because of the absolute certainty of getting their deposits back again and the interest on them. The system cannot fail because the faith of the government is pledged to sustain it. The cost to the government, besides the four per cent. interest, is one-third of one per cent. per annum on deposits. This admirable system could be introduced in the United States without increasing the civil service, except by a few clerks. It would be an aid to poor people whose savings are small. We ought to have it.

HIGH LICENSE.

PORTLAND, April 15.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In common with hundreds of others some months ago, I felt grieved at the course THE OREGONIAN was taking on the liquor question in favor of high license, and in opposing the efforts of the temperance people in favor of prohibition. It was a common thing to hear the expression, "THE OREGONIAN don't dare to espouse the temperance cause, for it is overawed by the saloon element. If they should withdraw their support it would cripple the paper," &c., &c.

We looked with longing hope to the new paper that was to start, thinking it would advocate the principles for which we strive. In this we have been sadly disappointed.

While we believe that prohibition is the true ground on which to meet the liquor traffic, we look upon with favor and applaud and uphold every approach towards prohibition—even high license. The city council had the moral stamina to raise the license of saloons to $500 in the interests of humanity. For this we are rejoiced, inasmuch as it will close many of the low dives that curse our city. Every true citizen that has the highest interests of the community at heart will sustain our brave council. It is we rejoice at the course our council has taken the more than ever since the bold and noble stand THE OREGONIAN has taken in support of the action of the council and the war it has declared on the whisky holes of Portland.

The cause of right and justice will prevail when a great leading paper like THE OREGONIAN throws its influence in the balance on the side of right, because it is the moulder of public sentiment. We sustain THE OREGONIAN, we sustain every person in the community that favors the curtailment of this devastating traffic, believing that by and by we will all be able to get upon the higher ground of prohibition. With the law-makers on the side of right, with the executive in sympathy with them, and backed by the press and wholesome public sentiment, the demoralizing influences of society will have to take a back seat.

The "dive" conclave yesterday were unable to see why they should be taxed so high and not the grocer or merchant. The grocer and merchant go to their business at 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning and quietly deal out food to sustain the body, clothing to keep it warm, material to build houses, furnish and ornament them and make them comfortable, fuel and light to warm and illuminate them, books and papers to read, etc., and at a respectable hour close business, suspend business on Sunday and rest themselves and give their clerks rest.

The saloon man's place is open at all hours of the day and night; a man goes into it in the morning sober and comes out drunk and perhaps crazed, so that he takes the life of a fellow, or perhaps wife or child.

There is a law against selling liquors to minors. They disregard it. There is a law against selling to Indians; they trample it under foot. There is a law forbidding them to sell liquors to habitual drunkards; they sell all the same. There is a law against selling to a man when intoxicated; they disregard the law and make him drunker.

There is a law forbidding them to allow minors about their saloons; they heed it not. There is a law requiring them to close on Sunday. They break it and defy the authorities from Saturday evening till Monday morning, and indeed every night their saloons are an unbroken bacchanalian revel amidst sawdust, tobacco fumes, profanities and vulgarisms, sapping the very foundations of the thrift and happiness of the community; ever a lot of which lawlessness the city has to keep a large force of police at heavy expense to protect life and keep the town from being burned or sacked. These are some of the reasons why there is a distinction made between the saloons and grocers merchants. Let them keep the laws; let them see that no drunken man ever leaves their saloons, and the strife will cease and the license lowered or abated.

Discovered and Captured.—Martin Johnson, alias "Dutchy," the hackman, who has been wanted for several days to satisfy a warrant issued by Justice White upon the charge of a rascally assault upon Kate Quigley, was arrested yesterday morning by Constable Lichtenthaler. He was found in a down town lodging house, where he had kept himself secreted in order to elude the officers of the law. When taken before the justice and tried upon the charge above stated, it was quickly developed that the evidence would not sustain it. Still the testimony was such as to warrant the court in convicting Johnson of a simple assault and imposing a fine of $15. The prisoner had no money and was sent to the county jail. Recent rumors having connected this man Johnson with the mysterious disappearance of Welch, the saddler, over a year ago, and an Oregonian reporter questioned him concerning his whereabouts yesterday. He seemed unwilling to talk upon that subject and appeared very nervous. He stated that he had known both Welch and his partner, Christiansen, and had worked in the same shop with them, but excitedly declared that he knew nothing of the former's disappearance. As there is the least evidence to show that Johnson has any hidden knowledge upon this subject, which has so long puzzled every one in this city, he should be examined before the grand jury.

Holding High Carnival.—The frequenters of the seven saloons on North First street, between E and F, were holding high carnival yesterday during the temporary absence of the policeman on that beat, occasioned by the death of a brother of one of the force. Donnybrook fair, in its palmiest days, never saw more fights in the same space of time than the vicinity of these seven saloons. Even the keepers of the seven dives became alarmed and anxiously longed for the sight of a policeman, although they do not wish to pay their license and thus contribute to the expenses incurred by the city on account of the vile haunts they keep. A brother of Justice Keegan, acting as deputy constable, who attempted to arrest one of the rioters, was pushed against the window of Mrs. Carroll's fruit store and two large squares of glass broken. Probably the most speedy and economical way of ridding the city of fires and liquor keepers would be to withdraw the police from their vicinity and leave the gin-jerkers to settle their own troubles with the fellows who are made drunk in their dives.

The Liquor Cases.—The cases of the three free whisky men arrested on Friday last, which had been continued to allow the complaints to be amended, were dismissed in the police court yesterday, counsel for defendants claiming that in order to be tried on the new complaint it was necessary that a new warrant must be issued for their arrest. Counsel for the city rather than to argue the point allowed the cases to be dismissed. The free whisky men claimed a victory on this quibble, but it was a bootless one. The following saloon keepers were arrested yesterday for selling liquor without license: Jacob Schwartz, Alex Mitchell, H. Bachenoto, M. P. Quinn, M. H. Flannagan, Joe Perry, F. Holder, E. Morgan, Sol Shapirer, Frank Giran, Jas. W. Winchell, Bachenberger, Geo. T. Reid, Dan Kippe and Louis Berkien. A number of warrants have been issued and more of the advocates of free whisky will be corraled to-day.

Fine Stock.—The steamer Umatilla, which arrived last night, brought for W. S. Ladd 19 head of fine Jersey cattle, two crates of sheep and two crates of swine, all thoroughbreds. They arrived in good condition from their transcontinental journey, and will be taken to Mr. Ladd's "Hazelfern" farm, on the east side.

Sudden Death.—Yesterday afternoon at 3:30, William Akers, the pioneer livery stable man, died at his residence No. 145 Main street in this city of paralysis aged 57 years. He was a member of the Pioneers' association and was well-known throughout the state. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon.

James W. Lenahan, alias Henry Willey, has been arrested on a charge of assault and battery upon John W. Bartley, and will be tried before Justice Keegan.

A five-months-old child of William Warner died on the Queen of the Pacific just before reaching the river the last trip. The remains were given burial yesterday.

In the suit of William Reed vs. the Oregonian navigation company limited, and the Oregonian railway company, in the state circuit court a motion was made yesterday to vacate the garnishment proceedings.

A drayman whose horse was suddenly taken sick on the street gave the animal to a Chinaman and the latter remained all night with his gift, his cupidity defying the cold and damp. However, the animal died on the heathen's hands.

Charles Howard, who is charged with robbing Hicks, a railroad laborer, in a down-town deadfall, was arraigned yesterday in the state circuit court and granted further time until this morning in which to decide how he should plead.

Mrs. Wm. B. Osborn, lately from India, lectured to a good-sized and attentive audience last evening at Y. M. C. A. hall, illustrating her subject by means of magic lantern views of scenes in far-off land, where the lady has made her home. The lecture was very interesting.

Susannah Hickam has begun an action in the state circuit court looking to the foreclosure of a mortgage against M. B. Rankin and others. The service of papers in the matter was a good job for the sheriff's office, there being a great many, and the cost of it all amounted to over $40.

The 19 Mongolian tan players who were at first unable to get bail save, since being indicted, obtained the money from some source and are now at liberty. It looks a little as though they hoped at first to get off free and then changed their minds when the grand jury took hold of the case.

The examination of Special Policeman Biggins, of the Oregon Humane Society, charged with an assault with a deadly weapon upon Tim Connell, which was to have occurred before Justice Greene yesterday, was postponed by consent of both parties until this afternoon.

Sunshine and shower in about equal measures prevailed yesterday. Toward evening the clouds sailed away, and the heavy banks of fog to the eastward lifted, showing the cascade range whitened with snow to the very foothills. During the evening the sky was clear, and there was a suspicion of frost in the air.

The alternative mandamus issued by Judge Stott in the state circuit court a few days since to Police Judge Moreland was yesterday dismissed. It was made upon complaint of one Thomson, a frequent witness in the police court, who failed to get his fees. The matter was settled, however without recourse to the law.

Frank Manciet and John Bigna, proprietors of the St. George hotel, were on trial yesterday before Justice Greene, charged with larceny. Several days ago they ejected Mrs. Eastabrooke and hold her trunks for board. She filed a complaint, charging Manciet and Bigne with stealing the trunks. Her own testimony showed that the trunks were held for board, and the men were discharged.

If there is any such thing as a codfish aristocracy, the codfish now on exhibition at Halifax, N. S., must be one of the leaders. It is 7 feet 10 inches in length, 3 feet in width, with a tail 30 inches wide, and a mouth, the capacity of which has not yet been calculated. It is to be sent to the London exhibition of fisheries, and will probably be taken by the cockneys as a brother of the whale which swallowed Jonah.

By Sprague—That the committee on fire and water be authorized to advertise for bids and let the contract for supplying and laying a service pipe to connect the city hall with the mains of the water company. Passed.

The president drew the attention of the council to the necessity of a system of sewerage, and urged the importance of immediate action in the matter.

SALEM NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, April 14.

The Athenæum society, at its meeting held April 13, elected the following officers to serve during the ensuing term: President, Lida Cranston; vice president, Esther Hall; secretary, Eva Earhart; assistant secretary, Lena Breyman; treasurer, Elma Woller; librarian, Lena Knight.

The Alka-Hesperian also elected the following list of officers: President, W. L. Boise; vice president Percy Willis; secretary, A. J. Simpson; assistant secretary, John Coffey; treasurer H. F. Ogle; censor, Cato Johns; librarian, Frank Meredith; sergeant-at-arms, John Peebles.

The social given last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson was liberally attended and proved, as was anticipated, an event of unusual pleasure. Vocal and instrumental music, interspersed with social conversation, caused the hours to pass very pleasantly, and the refreshments were choice and abundant.

Mrs. D. Payton, on Thursday evening last, invited a selected few of Salem's young people in to meet and become more intimately acquainted with Miss Eva Meyer, of Los Angeles, Cal., a niece of Hon. Edward Hirsch, our popular state treasurer, who is making Salem a brief visit. No pains were spared to make the event one long to be remembered by every one present, and the verdict was unanimous that it was one of the pleasantest social gatherings of the season. KIDNEY & LIVER REGULATOR.

DEEPENING THE RIVERS.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Sir:—In Saturday's issue of The Oregonian, and also in yesterday's, articles entitled "The Leading Question of the Hour," admonishing the citizens of Portland of the great importance of deepening and keeping open our rivers in order that we may retain and in fact increase our shipping facilities from Portland to the sea.

In the above named articles you pointed out, and not without grave apprehensions, how a rival city is liable to spring up having all the advantages of navigation in its favor, together with the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad and the Canadian Pacific adjoining, how easy it is for Portland to let slip a great opportunity, when once lost can never be regained, through lack of energy and a little enterprise. The people of Portland must not consider for one moment that because our city has risen to its present importance in wealth and population these last 25 years without a rival on the northwest coast, that it is always to continue so. When we look back at our history since 1858, or the year of the Fraser river excitement, Salmon river and Boise, Portland was the starting point to all the above named places and the source of their chief supplies. And now, in these days of great enterprises, with all the facilities of communication by land and water, it is hard to tell what capital and easy access cannot do in diverting the channels of trade and commerce whereby time and money may be saved.

As you have wisely remarked, another shipping season with a same set of ... in all probability we will have the same old story to tell—another ship on Swan Island bar. It is very unfortunate that the last congress should overlook our great want and make no appropriation for keeping open our noble rivers, when it has been demonstrated what great benefits have accrued from the work and the hands of the government engineers, although not half finished. Taking all the surrounding circumstances into consideration, and the great responsibility resting upon us in relation to our future prosperity, it behooves us to look around and find something ourselves. We have seen and read of the various methods and appliances for removing river bars and obstructions from the great ocean steamer's propeller to Honeyman's elephant, Mr. Church's submarine symbol, the government dredger, which has practically demonstrated that it will work; and last, but not least, there is John Phelan's rake and scoop, which, when properly mounted and from the simplicity of its construction, would be a cheap and effective apparatus for deepening our rivers, when it has a current to aid it. There is no doubt but the city dredger will work effectually along the city front, when the deposits of mud from our sewers, etc., lie. Mr. Church's theory is an experiment, and I have no word in its condemnation. But it's as sure as to-morrow's sun rises and sets, that some method has to be adopted by our citizens who have their all at stake in the future prosperity and welfare of our young and growing city, and who, perhaps, may wait too long for aid from any quarter. Many of us have seen and read where artificial rivers have been made and opened for shipping and commerce.

Take for instance the Clyde, which has been made from a comparatively insignificant stream, but now ships of the deepest draft of water discharge their cargoes at the docks of Glasgow. All this was done principally by the merchants and business men of that place.

Why then should the citizens of Portland remain inactive when such a work of vital importance remains to be done. As a matter of course it costs money, but the return is sure to be ten-fold, not only to Portland, but to the whole country at large. We think the Board of Trade should move in this matter, as they are the best judges of anything relating to navigation and commerce. We would suggest the formation of a joint stock company, which in our simple opinion, would readily be taken hold of by some of our capitalists and business men as soon as ever some available project was adopted that was not very expensive and was sure to work effectually. It is a foregone conclusion that sooner or later we must try the experiment, no matter at what cost, and the sooner done the better.

There is a great demand for labor in Walla Walla at present, more particularly farm help. The various employment agencies state that the supply is inadequate to the demand.

Yakima Signal:—Our farmers are still plowing and sowing. The ground is in an excellent condition. Radishes and lettuce have come up in the gardens, but the growth is slow by reason of the cool weather that has prevailed for a week or more.

Walla Walla Statesman:—A large space has been fenced in at either end of the company's passenger depot at the station, and will be laid out with beautiful shrubbery and shade trees. The fence will be painted to correspond with the buildings and will present a fine appearance. Other improvements are going on at the station with a view of beautifying the grounds.

Signal:—A gentleman and his wife living near Ellensburg, whose name we were not able to learn, met with a most painful accident a few days ago. He was engaged in burning sage brush and his wife was assisting him, when the wind became so strong that fearing the fire would communicate to the rye grass, he attempted to put it out during which time his wife's clothing caught on fire and fanned by the strong wind she was almost immediately a mass of flames, and her husband in tearing the burning clothing from her had his hands and arms badly burned. At present they are stopping at a neighbor's.

POLICE COURT—MORELAND, J.

In the cases against George Wiseman and others for selling liquor without a license a demurrer was [illegible] for the prisoners on the ground that there was an insufficiency in the complaint to hold them. The city attorney confessed to the flaw in the instrument and asked that another complaint be filed. If the proceeding is not a bar to a renewal an amended complaint will be filed and the case again brought up.

Lee Yin was fined $5 for fast driving.

Fifteen patrons of the unlicensed whisky dives of the city were each fined $10 for being drunk and disorderly.

Thomas Leonard guessed he was guilty of being a vagrant, and the Court remanded him to jail forty days.

Andrew Bodegra had the assurance to plead guilty to the charge of having made an indecent exposure of his person on the public street, and was fined $10.

Richard Quinn was fined $10 for fighting.

The case of the State of Oregon vs. Cath Lowery was continued till to-morrow, when she will have a jury trial. She is charged with assault and battery.

A Domestic Tragedy.

CHICAGO, April 15.—This afternoon Ronan Nomak, a Bohemian cabinetmaker, went to the house of his divorced wife with the purpose of getting possession of one of their children, a boy of four years. She refused him admission, when he drew a revolver and fired through the window at which she was sitting, shooting her in the head, the ball lodging in the brain. He then turned the pistol on himself and blew out his own brains, falling dead on the steps. A letter in his pocket gave directions to the Knights of Honor to use the insurance on his life for the education of the children. The woman cannot live through the night.

More Dynamite.

Bernard Gallagher has been arrested at Glasgow on a charge of being connected with the dynamite plot. He will be brought to London. He denies that he turned approver.

A Dishonest Official.

ATLANTA, April 15.—A jury of the United States circuit court found J. M. Robinson guilty on 19 counts on an indictment for presentation of false accounts as deputy marshal. This is one of a series of prosecutions begun by the department of justice. The trial excited great interest and the conviction makes confusion.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2, 1881.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Impoverished Irish.

BOSTON, April 15.—The steamer Nestorian arrived last night with 65 passengers, most of them impoverished Irish people, sent over at the expense of the English government. The greater part are families, some of which number eight or ten persons, while the average is about five. A majority are from Galway, others from Mayo, Derry and Donegal. Most are from Galway. They were evicted, and during the past winter lived as best they could, finding shelter in tents. Indian meal porridge was their principal article of food. An agent of the government furnished money to those who desired to go to places beyond Boston, the amount depending upon the size of the family, some receiving a few shillings, others two, three, five or six pounds. A great many of the men are farmers, but seem undecided what they shall do here. Some are going to New York, others to Pittsburg, Portland, Chicago and Canada, while some remain in Boston and vicinity. Several paid their own passage but brought little with them in the way of money or household goods to their various destinations. The steamship Parisia from Liverpool, which arrived this morning, also brought a large number of the same class of emigrants.

A Murderous Crank.

NORWICH, Conn., April 15.—Oliver Burgess of Foster, R. I., while making a friendly call on Daniel and Henry Burlingame at Gallingly, Conn., suddenly shot Daniel, slightly injuring him. In the struggle for the pistol Henry was dangerously wounded. Burgess returned to Rhode Island, where he was arrested. While being taken to jail at Killingly, he asked to be allowed to jump overboard, which would save the state trouble and expense. Burgess killed himself.

The Phoenix Park Case.

DUBLIN, April 16.—The mother of Pete Fynde "number one" said she believed her son was a superior officer of the invincibles. Although a true bill was returned against the prisoners charged with the Phoenix park murders, it is believed they will only be tried on a capital charge. It is stated that Delaney and McCafferty will plead guilty. Carey will depose Monday. He was sworn in as an invincible by his brother. They will be tried after Curley.

The Indian Scare Groundless.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 15.—The report of an Indian invasion on Friday proves to be groundless. No Indians are known to have entered Texas, but a thieving band was trailed by Capt. Alvarez, of the Mexican army, to a point near Langtry, where the trail was lost, and it was supposed the Indians crossed the Rio Grande. No trace of them has been found, however, by scouting parties sent out from our military posts on the frontier.

The Anti-Polygamous Mormons.

KIRTLAND, Ohio, April 15.—Business of the Mormon conference being finished yesterday, to-day was devoted to closing exercises, prayer-meeting and the sacrament early in the morning, followed in the forenoon, afternoon and evening by services, at which sermons were preached by Joseph Smith, head of the anti-polygamous Mormon church, and other leaders.

Also at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—Sixty-nine evicted farmers from Mayo and Galway arrived in the steamship Indiana. Rev. Bernard S. Kelly of Galway is also passenger. He has been sent to this country by the Irish bishop of Quam, to raise money for relief of distress in his flock.

Death of Dr. Bannister.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Rev. Dr. Henry Bannister, professor of exegetical theology in North Western university at Evanston widely known among Methodists as a theologian and educator, died at Evanston to-day of lung and heart trouble, aged 71.

Rates Established.

SAN ANTONIO, April 15.—The railroad centering at Dallas, which has been hauling cotton at almost any price, formed a pool yesterday, and established the following rates: To St Louis, 85 cents per hundred, New York, $1.10; Liverpool, $1.36.

THE EAST SIDE.

AN UNFORTUNATE RUSSIAN.

A case of assault and battery was heard before the recorder yesterday in which two of the Russians residing in the old Oriental hotel building were the principal characters. Neither they nor the three witnesses examined could make themselves intelligible in English, and Aaron May, Barman's clerk, being secured as interpreter, they were allowed to use their own language. It appeared that Shriner, in order to appear to advantage in paying his addresses to a Russian girl, obtained a watch chain from Workman, for which he promised to pay one dollar at a stated time. The time having expired Sunday, Workman demanded payment. Shriner first denied the possession, but being threatened with bodily injury if he did not either pay for the chain or return it, he finally produced the chain and in his anger threw it forcibly into Workman's face, bruising it in several places. Workman raising an umbrella to defend himself, Shriner wrested it from him and broke it to pieces. For this performance Workman had Shriner arrested, and the fact of the assault being proven to the satisfaction of the recorder, he was fined $5, which he paid and was released. It further transpired that besides losing the chain, he did not catch the girl. By pleading this fact as a mitigating circumstance a different result might have ensued, as the recorder probably "knows how it is himself."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The East Portland teachers' association met in the Central school building last Saturday at 10:30 A. M. Present, Miss L. A. Wilson, Miss M. E. Buxton, Mrs. A. L. Haskins, Miss Ada Thomas, Mrs. A. E. Anderson, Mrs. L. B. Fitch and Mr. J. B. Ewing. Absent, Miss Nettie Powell, Miss Lillie Wade, Miss May Kelly and Miss J. A. Moss. An interesting and instructive essay on "Discipline" was read by Miss L. A. Wilson, and Miss M. E. Buxton read an essay on "Corporal Punishment." Other members of the association contributed to the exercises.

ENTERTAINMENT.

The ladies of St. David's Guild will hold a fair, promenade concert and cup and saucer party at Neppach hall, East Portland, on Wednesday evening, April 18. Songs, tableaux and word charades will be given, and the "Old Woman that Lived in a Shoe" will appear with her numerous family. A cup and saucer of decorated ware, with a delicious lunch can be obtained for 50 cents. Admission 25 cents. Doors open at 7 o'clock.

FROM ALBINA.

Albina appears just now to have slackened speed in order to take breath after an exhaustive run, and it is not altogether evident that she has not become overstimulated in the performance and will require extra time to recuperate on this account. She appears, however, to have good staying qualities, and will probably come out all right in the end. Business, keeping pace with the town, is in a corresponding jog-trot—in that stage of its progress at which those interested say that they "can't complain," and if not doing as well as they would wish at present, are buoyed up by "great expectations" of the future, which are justified on reasonable grounds. The greatest disadvantage here to the growth of the place, as in East Portland, is the scarcity of residence accommodation, which owes its existence to the current spirit of speculation, some owners preferring to hold property for prospective appreciation than to build thereon, and others being unable to build if they would. Boom prices, however, have reached their limit—at least for the present—and property owners would find it to their interest to build suitable dwellings to satisfy the present demand for them. Business will necessarily advance in proportion to the increase of population, and this is doubtless retarded by the lack of facilities for those who desire to locate. For hotel accommodations, the supply is rather in excess of the demand, and probably will be till more white men are put on railroad works.

As the place develops, its necessities accumulate, and prominent among these is a better and more direct road of communication between it and East Portland. A scheme is on foot to remedy this evil by building a road from Loring street to connect with Third street in McMillen's addition. This would necessitate the erection of a bridge across the slough directly south of Mitchell street, about 490 feet in length, which it is estimated would cost in the neighborhood of $700. From the southern terminus of the proposed bridge through Elizabeth Irving addition to McMillen's addition, a distance of about 700 feet, the road would require but little grading, and probably could be done at a cost of about $60. Mr. Montgomery is willing to donate what property it will be necessary to dedicate for the purpose of the new road, provided the old, River street is vacated, and this could be done without incurring any disadvantage or damage, as the street has outlived its usefulness. The proposed road would decrease the distance between Albina and the railroad and Stark street ferries about one mile and a half from the circuitous route which is the only one available at present. The importance of the project demands that it be carried into effect as speedily as possible.

Considerable opposition is manifested by business men and others against the proposed occupation of Loring street for railroad purposes, which is embraced in the scheme of the Multnomah railway company, asked to be sanctioned by the county court. This is the principal business street and the only one now unoccupied by a railroad, and business men naturally wish to preserve it from an innovation that will depreciate their property and injure their business. The proposed route by way of Loring street to a point on the Vancouver road, about three miles from the Columbia river, is about a quarter of a mile further than it would be by the old county road, by way of Mitchell street from the ferry, and it remains to be demonstrated why the route proposed is the one more desirable for public interests. The old county road, by some technical flaw, is not properly legalized, but this matter is easy of adjustment, and it is generally believed that the interests of the public would be better subserved by the railway occupying this road, to which there is comparatively little objection.

THAT SMALLPOX CASE.

The child that was reported to have had symptoms of smallpox died yesterday at the house on the corner of Fifth and G streets, and the family propose to have funeral services at the Catholic church this morning. Doctors disagreed as to the nature of the disease, and Chief Lappeus upon examination did not feel justified in confirming the report; but people cannot be too cautious in a matter of this kind and would do well to give the church a wide berth this morning if the intentions of the family are carried out.

"My hands were covered with little dry scabs. They have disappeared, and I'm better than I have been for 20 years, from using Dr. Benson's Skin Cure." A. M. Noble, Selma, N. C., July 3, '82.

BABY'S PETITION.

Life is restless, days are fleeing,
Children bloom, but die in teething;
Warning take, all friends and mothers,
Watch the precious girls and brothers.

No sleepless nights, by baby squalling,
Like larks they rise in early morning.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

MONDAY, April 16.

The week opens with clearing weather, which, if continued, will greatly help trade. Business houses generally are receiving good orders and are busy filling them.

Vessels still hold out firmly for 65s. next season's loading and from day to day it looks as though exporters would have to admit such a figure if they desire ships. A few days ago we spoke of the excessive tonnage at ports on the west coast of South America. To-day it is stated that advices have been received here giving information of an advance in freights at those ports notwithstanding the large amount of available tonnage. The world has increased needs to be supplied, and additions to tonnage have not been sufficiently large to meet them. India and Australia export now a large quantity of wheat and other sections have witnessed an increased call for tonnage. It remains to be seen how much tonnage we can draw this way in ballast. If considerable can be so drawn together with that arriving and to arrive with cargo the freight situation will show weakness. It is yet too early to know what we can secure and exporters are not taking as free as usual to arrive. An iron vessel for October loading is currently reported as having secured 64s.

Wheat remains in much the same condition. A small lot of fair quality changed hands to-day at $1 85, but holders of choice refuse as yet such a figure. Advices to-day show no particular change abroad but the eastern markets are higher.

Oats in fair supply, a fair sized lot changing hands to-day at 63 cents. A carload has been sold to go up the Columbia, the price paid understood to be 70 cents, possibly a shade less. The San Francisco market is quiet with $1 95 per cental top price.

Flour firm as regards local trade.

Potatoes dull with light demand.

Onions scarce and high, with a good shipping demand which is poorly met on account of small stocks. The last steamer took out 60 sacks.

For chickens $6 is generally asked; stocks on hand to-day were light.

California butter selling at 29@32½ cents. Receipts ex last steamer well cleaned up but the Umatilla brings fresh stocks.

Coffee advanced to-day one cent per pound all round owing to advices from San Francisco.

Receipts past 48 hours include 54 ctls wheat, 502 bbls flour, 129 ctls oats, 3600 ctls bran, 232 sks potatoes, 137 bls hay, 730 lbs hides, 13 bxs butter, 3950 doz eggs, 151 bxs fruit, also 125 bbls flour, 54 bxs fruit from the eastern section.

The Columbia took out 1100 hf bbls 2900 qr sks flour, 60 sks onions, 50 bxs apples, 7 sks [illegible], 5 bxs dried pears, 3 bls furs, 1 bdl sheepskins, 45 sheepskins, 76 dry hides, 7 cs cassimeres, 1 bls flannels, 72 cords wood, 3000 bdls lath, 25,000 ft of lumber, 17 sks green leather $11,550 treasure.

Receipts of produce for last calender week were 934 ctls wheat, 4825 bbls flour, 2204 ctls oats, 2,950 lbs bran, 92,267 lbs middlings, 1938 sks potatoes, 236 bls hay, 34,079 lbs hides, 50 bxs butter, 23,490 doz eggs, 673 bxs fruit, 2736 lbs wool, also 200 bbls lime.

The following communication has been received from the agent of the board of underwriters in London: "The ship H. S. Gregory, which sailed from Port Townsend September 17, 1882, and which was abandoned on February 18th in a sinking state, had the following attendants: One man died, and the captain and the remainder of the crew were almost blind from the effects of the foul air generated by the cargo." The Gregory had on board a cargo of Walla Walla wheat, which, judging from the above, cannot be a very good article.—S. F. Alta.

The above uncalled-for slur has also appeared in other California papers. The writers knew it to be unjust when they wrote, for Walla Walla wheat will compare favorably with that shipped by California, and the cargo of the Gregory was a fair shipment. The ship experienced terrible weather, causing leakage, and the pumps becoming choked, were useless. As the crew could not leave the vessel they were compelled to remain on board, the water in the hold constantly becoming foul, as it will with almost any cargo, California wheat not excepted. This foul air or vapor the crew were obliged to suffer from for days. We publish the following account of the rescue from an English paper:

The steamship Glen Bervie of Leith, Captain Dunn, master, arrived in Dublin on Monday at 11 P. M., from Baltimore, with maize, and reports having experienced fearful gales and hurricanes of wind on her passage to this port. She had on board the captain, his wife and child and the crew (28 men) of the American ship H. S. Gregory of Thomaston, U. S. A., which vessel foundered shortly after their rescue, 500 miles west of Cape Clear. The rescue was made under the supervision of Captain Dunn of the Glen Bervie, who gave one of his boats in charge of his second officer, Mr. Young, with four men. They at once put off to the ship, though at the time there was a fierce sea running, and succeeded in reaching the disabled ship. Mr. Young, who was in charge of the boat, and four men spoke the ship, and decided on approaching her, which they did. On examination Mr. Young found that the captain and some of the crew were blind from the vapor that rose from the cargo, and with great difficulty managed to transfer the crew to the steamer, and landed all here safely. The carpenter of the H. S. Gregory went down when the pumps got choked to try and clear them, but was suffocated before he was many minutes at work. The Glen Bervie was in a disabled state, having had three of her boats smashed and her decks swept and under water for several days. Captain Dunn, who gave the orders, and Mr. Young and the four men who manned the boat that went to the disabled ship's assistance, deserve great credit for the gallantry they displayed on the occasion.

The Dullness in the Wool Trade.

NEW YORK, April 16.—[Special.] James Lynch, emigration commissioner and a well known wool dealer, when asked about the general condition of trade, said: "We have been expecting a dull season, but it has come much earlier than we anticipated. There are various causes. Manufacturers have been disappointed in getting rid of their products; people west as well as east have held their products in anticipation of better prices, and in doing so have not made purchases of woolen goods. Storekeepers consequently being unable to dispose of their stocks on hand have not made any new purchases. Another cause for the stagnation of trade is the passage of the new wool tariff by the last congress. Many people are holding off until the new tariff goes into effect, July 1, in order to take advantage of the foreign wools."

At a meeting of the wool trade yesterday it was arranged to give a complimentary dinner at Delmonico's, next Tuesday, to Green & Siebert, who will retire from business May 1. Other lesser firms, who retire at the same time, have been invited to the dinner. About 290 members of the trade will be present.

Wheat in Great Britain.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Special.—Post's financial article: The decline in prices of wheat in England referred to in yesterday's cables as the cause of expected failures there, was the combined effect of an unexpected increase of imports and a favorable change in the weather in Great Britain in the last ten days, but it is now understood that the increase of exports was largely the effect of the unusually easy condition of ocean freights here, which increased the exports from the United States in the latter part of March. The fine weather in England also comes too late to make any important change in the prospect for the crops in the United Kingdom. There will not be over two-thirds of an average crop of wheat there, and in France not over 80 per cent. of an average crop. Besides this, it is now acknowledged that the surplus of wheat and flour in the United Kingdom is only a little over half what it has been assumed to be by the guess work statistics kept there, and it is quite certain that all surplus wheat of the United States will be wanted, at least at the present prices.

Mark Lane Review.

LONDON, April 16.—The Mark Lane Express, in a review of the British grain trade for the past week, says: "The supply has decreased and prices are irregular, varying 2s. The demand is slow; trade in foreign wheat is disheartening, and prices 1s. lower.
